

Operation Comeback

A data-driven betting plan for Stibi — built from 198 settled bets

Prepared 27 June 2026

Final: 19 July 2026

Currently 5th of 6

The one-line diagnosis: You don't bet too much, too small, or too timidly — your volume, stake size and multipliers match the leaders almost exactly. Your entire deficit is hit-rate, and it lives in just two markets: exact-score and match-outcome. Fix those and the gap closes.

1 • Where you stand

You sit on 877 points, ~312 behind leader Kipper. Across the field, everyone has placed roughly the same number of bets (~197) at near-identical stakes. The separator is purely how often bets land.

Manager	Win %	Points from bets	Settled bets
Kipper	41.6%	1129	197
Hulدينho	39.1%	1091	197
Bo "itsComingHome" Bo	36.5%	1012	197
Jankon Betoni	35.9%	985	195
Stibi	32.8%	862	198

Same effort, same money on the table — you're simply hitting 3–9 points of win-rate below the pack.

2 • Anatomy of the gap

You're ~192 points below the top-4 average. Almost all of it comes from two markets. Everything else nets to roughly zero — and on score-2+ and anytime-scorer you're actually ahead of the field.

Deficit attribution vs. the field average. This is a two-leak boat, not a sinking ship.

3 • Leak #1 — Exact score: betting the wrong scorelines

You placed 66 exact-score bets — the same as everyone — but converted only 4.5% vs the field's 11.8%. That's 3 wins where ~8 were available. The cause is systematic: you bet decisive, high-scoring lines while World Cup football is low and drawish.

What you keep betting

Scoreline	You picked	Times it happened
2-0	13x	4
3-1	7x	3
2-2	6x	3
4-1 / 4-0 / 0-4	9x	~1

What actually happens

Scoreline	Happened	You picked
1-1	9	~0x
0-0	6	2x
1-0	5	3x
0-1	5	low

Fix: Anchor every exact-score pick on 1-1, 1-0, 0-1, 2-1, 0-0. Same number of bets, roughly 3x the hit-rate — and exact-score pays the most per win (~32 pts), so this is your single biggest lever (≈ +140 available).

4 • Leak #2 — Outcome: the draw bets

Your home/away reads are fine — your away-win calls (72%) actually beat the field. The damage is all in draws.

Your pick	Stibi win %	Field win %	Verdict
Away win	72.2%	68.3%	Strength — keep it
Home win	60.5%	65.5%	Slightly soft
Draw	20.0% (2/10)	51.3%	The leak

Fix: Stop punting draw on the outcome market. Outcome is the biggest points pool in the game (highest volume, ~64% league hit-rate) — leaking here hurts most. When you sense a tight game, express it through an exact-score 1-1 or 0-0 instead, where a correct draw pays far more.

5 • The plan from here

Plenty of runway remains — 10 group games left plus the entire knockout stage through 19 July — and your form is already trending up (29.8% → 35.1% recently). To erase ~265 points:

1. Bet the boring scorelines. Exact-score on 1-1 / 1-0 / 0-1 / 2-1. Highest-payout market, your biggest lever. Stop betting 2-0, 3-1, 4-x.
2. Kill the outcome draws. Convert that conviction into exact-score draws instead.
3. Double down on what works. Away-win calls, anytime-scorer and score-2+ are already at or above field level — keep weighting coins there.
4. Knockouts are exact-score gold. KO games run tighter and lower-scoring (1-0, 1-1, extra-time grinds). Your new low-score discipline pays off exactly when the multipliers grow.

Bottom line: Don't bet more, bigger, or bolder. Bet lower scorelines and fewer draws. That single behavioural change is worth nearly your entire deficit — and there's enough football left to spend it.

